What others are saying...

A little about Naomi...

Naomi was asked to speak to our audience of about 1,000 project managers at Alcatel - Lucent (virtual, web-based) and responded wonderfully with a creative and interesting talk rooted in her experience. Naomi was able to be flexible with a challenging and varying agenda and was on-time (or early) with all deliverables. Most importantly, the attendees have indicated that they were pleased with the presentation. Thanks, Naomi!

Rich Maltzman, PMP Leader, Learning & Professional Advancement Alcatel-Lucent

Naomi is a very dedicated member of the Project Management community. She is not only generous with her time, but very passionate about the work she does. Her contributions both on projectmanagement.com (formerly gantthead) and for PMI are well known and greatly respected. She is one of the people we count on to deliver on our mission of "making project managers more successful". Naomi will be a highly valued asset to any organization she joins in the future and we hope to keep her as a part of ours for a long time to come.

Dave Garrett, Director, Digital Presence at Project Management Institute & President of ProjectManagement.com

I have had the privilege to collaborate with Naomi on many occasions over the past year via #PMChat, a global community of project managers. Regardless of the initiative, Naomi executed with a tremendous balance of passion, excellence, and knowledge from start to finish. Considering #PMChat is a global community, Naomi was challenged by project managers across sectors, facing different challenges, and with a broad range of experience from around the world.

Robert Kelly, PMP, Senior Manager Lenovo NA Services PMO and Co-Founder of #PMChat

Naomi Caietti has recently launched her own consulting company to provide virtual services for clients that need a speaker, author, or coach.

Naomi is a GLOBAL SPEAKER on topics such as leadership, project management and women in project management. She is a guest blogger and sought-after expert on project management. Online Naomi contributes her knowledge as an expert on the ProjectManagement.com community, and is also noted as one of the TOP INFLUENTIAL project management professionals on twitter (PMOT), and a TOP CONTRIBUTOR to #PMChat on twitter. Caietti has 27+ years of public and private information technology (IT) project leadership expertise.
